Movies for Hospital Patients

A plan for the showing of movies in hospitals to help while away the hours of bedridden patients, is being sponsored by Marshall Neilan. An experiment at the California hospital in Los Angeles recently, in which a small suitcase projector designed for this purpose was employed, proved highly successful. Wesley "Freckles" Barry, the boy star, is here seen projecting a picture on the ceiling of the hospital ward.

The officers and directors of this bank seize this opportunity to express to you their appreciation for the business and matters that you have entrusted to their hands during the past year and shall hope for a continuance of your confidence and esteem.
